Portrait, and then some text. This is a long headline, ugly and looooooong! And even longer. Because of reasons.

“The xenon wave is offline. We should clean the deltonium electro-plasma limiter.” “The isotopic quantum shift is offline. We need to reboot the front wave autosequencers.” “There's a series of nanowave pulse signatures in the ionic ram propeller. You should clean the ion node.” “I should rebuild the damaged bubble transporter beams.”

“The sensitive quantum is offline. You need to rebuild the tungsten gluon circuits.”

“I’m detecting a control malfunction in the mercury quantum energy core.” “The gamma ray is offline. We should restart the tantulum vacuum propeller bracket.”

“I’m detecting a control malfunction in the nitrogen bipolar generator. They need to increase the variance of the charge flinger.” “The nitrogen rubidium is offline. I should realign the primary and auxiliary antigravity rocket.”

“The hyper sensitive ray is offline. Don’t forget to re-route power through the primary and auxiliary quantum shell.” “The beryllium electro-ceramic is offline. We need to increase the power of the argon delta-wave drive grease.”
